

Crush injury of the hand in a four-year-old boy, case report

MUDr. Jiří Smrž, MUDr. Jiří Urban
Úrazové oddělení Nemocnice České Budějovice a.s

The case report presents a complex hand injury in a four year old boy who had his hand crushed by a falling beam. The whole treatment process is described, including its complications, such as a traumatic skin defect and a non-union of 2nd metacarpal, which is particularly rare in children. The case report includes detailed photographic and X-ray documentation.